

Instructions for Completing PS Form 8201

Definitions

Pre-Tax Treatment means that an employee's contributions toward Federal Employees Health Benefit (FEHB) Program insurance premiums are not subject to Federal income, Social Security, or Medicare taxes, and, where applicable, state and local income taxes. The employee's taxable income is reduced accordingly. Pre-tax treatment therefore results in lower taxes and higher take-home pay than the employee would have by paying premiums with after-tax treatment. NOTE: If you are restoring pre-tax treatment, see the section below that explains "IRS Guidelines – Restrictions on Reducing Health Benefits Coverage."

After-Tax Treatment means that an employee's contributions toward FEHB health insurance premiums are subject to the taxes listed above.

Uses for PS Form 8201

Use this form to:

- Waive pre-tax treatment of employee contributions towards FEHB health insurance premiums; or
- Restore pre-tax treatment of employee contributions towards FEHB health insurance premiums if pre-tax treatment was previously waived.

DO NOT use this form to:

- Elect pre-tax treatment of employee contributions towards FEHB health insurance premiums, UNLESS you have previously waived it.
- Waive pre-tax treatment of employee contributions towards FEHB health insurance premiums if you have already waived it.
- Enroll in the FEHB Program or Flexible Spending Accounts.

Who May Use PS Form 8201

Only career employees who are eligible for pre-tax treatment of their share of FEHB health insurance premiums under United States Postal Service™ policy and participating collective bargaining agreements may use PS Form 8201.

When You May Use PS Form 8201

You may use PS Form 8201 when you are initially appointed, during FEHB Open Season, or following certain qualifying lifeevents.

Qualifying life events are detailed in the applicable Guide to Employees Health Benefits Plans (in the Table of Permissible Changes under Premium Conversion Election Changes That May Be Permitted), available at www.opm.gov/insure/health/index.asp or from your personnel office.

Effective Dates for Waivers/Restoration

Your decision to waive or restore pre-tax treatments must be made either during FEHB Open Season, taking effect with the new plan year, OR upon having a qualifying life event and reducing coverage is in keeping with the change as explained in the FEHB guide.

Newly hired career employees who want to waive pre-tax treatment may submit PS Form 8201 during their initial opportunity to elect FEHB coverage. Pre-tax waivers made by newly hired career employees take effect the pay period following submission of PS Form 8201.

Your decision will continue into future plan years unless you later submit a new PS Form 8201 to change the tax treatment of your contributions to FEHB health insurance.

IRS Guidelines — Restrictions on Reducing Health Benefits Coverage (Pre-Tax Treatment)

If you restore pre-tax treatment, the following restriction applies to you: Outside of FEHB Open Season, you may reduce your level of coverage (cancel your enrollment, or change from Family to Self-only) ONLY if you have had a qualifying life event and reducing coverage is in keeping with the change as explained in the FEHB Guide.

This differs for employees covered by after-tax treatment, who may reduce their level of coverage at any time. This difference exists because pre-tax treatment is subject to Internal Revenue Service (IRS) guidelines. Keep this information in mind when making your decision.

If you restore pre-tax treatment, should you ever wish to reduce coverage outside of FEHB Open Season, you must submit a PostalEASE FEHB Worksheet to your human resource office no later than the time limit explained in the FEHB Guide after a qualifying life event, and provide any supporting documentation requested. The effective date will be the first day of the pay period following approval of your PostalEASE FEHB Worksheet.

Purpose of PS Form 8201
